

World Affairs Council-Washington, DC Announces New Strategic Partnership with DailyChatter

July 25, 2016 -- The World Affairs Council-Washington, DC is pleased to announce a new partnership with DailyChatter – A global perspectives email newsletter that is sent right to your email inbox each morning to bring you up to speed on the latest international issues.

For 36 years, the World Affairs Council-Washington, DC has remained committed to expanding awareness among the American public and international community of geo-political, business, and civil society issues in our inter-connected world. We are 'A Leading Forum for Global Education and International Affairs,' and an institution 'Where Learning Happens'.

We are pleased to bring you this daily dose of international news. We know that busy schedules limit the time we have to read newspapers & magazines, so we sense that you will find DailyChatter makes it easy to stay informed about critical global issues; by bringing you "The world in two minutes" – right to your phone, tablet or desktop.

As a supporter, member, partner or friend of the World Affairs Council-Washington, DC, we are happy to share a complimentary DailyChatter email update to your inbox around 6:00am EST every day.

Along with DailyChatter's Founding Chairman, CEO, and Co-Executive Editor Philip Balboni, we trust that you will enjoy this daily email newsletter. We look forward to hearing your feedback/comments on this service.

If you are not receiving this newsletter and wish to do so, please email Kristin Roach, our Director – Global Communications at kroach@worldaffairscouncil.org.

Thank you for your support of the World Affairs Council-Washington, DC.

Regards,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Tony R. Culley-Foster".

Tony Culley-Foster, WAC-DC President & CEO

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Kristin Roach".

Kristin Roach, WAC-DC Director - Global Communications

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Michael P. Norris".

cc: Michael Norris, WAC-DC Chairman

P.S. – Philip Balboni is a leading journalism entrepreneur who was the Founder and CEO of the widely admired international news site GlobalPost. Balboni also serves as a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Visitors at Columbia Journalism School. Co-Executive Editor Alex Jones won the Pulitzer Prize for reporting at the New York Times and for 15 years was the Director of the Shorenstein Center on Media, Politics and Public Policy at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government. Jones is the author of three books including his most recent in 2009, Losing the News: The Future of the News That Feeds Democracy from Oxford University Press.